

Company: Gillette Children's Specialty Healthcare
Job Title: Pediatric Infectious Disease Physician

Gillette Children's Specialty Healthcare is different from other children's hospitals for one simple reason: our focus. Gillette is a nationally and internationally recognized leader in the diagnosis and treatment of children, teens and adults who have disabilities and complex medical conditions. We focus on providing our patients with an exceptional depth of expertise. Our patients' needs are extensive and, in many cases, require lifelong care.

We are looking for an experienced, dedicated, and compassionate Pediatric Infectious Disease Physician to join our team in St. Paul, MN.

A successful candidate will be able to demonstrate excellence, leadership, and direction to interdisciplinary teams as it relates to infectious disease in the following areas:

- Inpatient Consultation
- Outpatient Consultation – scheduled external and internal referrals, same day consultations for urgent visits (i.e.: acute orthopedic clinic), hospital follow-up visits, Outpatient Parenteral Antibiotic Therapy (OPAT) management.
- Infection Prevention including work on the COVID response in partnership with Infection Preventionist RN.
- Hospital epidemiology including contact tracing for all COVID positive patients, visitors, and employees in partnership with Infection Preventionist RN.
- Antimicrobial Stewardship

The Ideal candidate for this position will have a passion for making a difference in the lives of patients with disabilities, enjoys working with a strong team focused on helping patients improve their health and live their lives more independently, brings energy to the workplace while having the ability to have work life balance.

Candidates for this opportunity must be a board certified or board eligible Pediatric Infectious Disease Physician with demonstrated expertise in caring for children and young adults with complex care needs. This candidate also needs to be committed to being part of an internationally recognized organization that is focused on providing the best care for children, adolescents, and adults through a strong interdisciplinary approach.
